TUESDAY MORNING DECEMBER 24, 1872

An Urgent Demand upon the City

We called attention yesterday to the great deficiency of water supply for an emergency such as that which came upon the city on Sunday last The fact that the cisterns filled no adequate supply of water for use by the engines notwithstanding the conduits which waters it fed from the mains into the cisterns were kept open continually may well excite serious apprehension Extensive as was the conflagration one may readily imagine how much greater it might have been and is liable to be at almost any time in the future The day was most favorable to the onderwors to subdue the flames At the time the firestarted there was but little wind Owing to the recent rains and the cloudy weather which succeeded them and which prevailed at the time of the fire roofs cornices and awnings were less liable to ignite than on one half the days of the year And yet it was only when the light southerly wind of the forenoon gave place to an almost complete calm and the rains began to fall copiously that the progress of the destruction was at last arrested. But for this circumstance the devastation must inevitably have been such as one shrinks from contemplating The combined force of all the fire departments of our own and the neighboring cities, with the best water supply, would have been unable to beat back such a fire upon a dry day with high winds, such as that upon which the Boston conflagration occurred What, then, would they do in such an emergency, with only the supply we now have? Long before 12 o clock our two hand engines and two steamers exhausted the cisterns

The failure of water was not caused by insufficiency of the reservoirs or of the means of filling them The natural supply from the streams from which water is brought is very considerable, and the pumping machinery by which the reservoirs are filled from the river, has capacity for raising an amount largely in excess of that ordinarily demanded As soon as the fire was discovered, orders were given by the water company that the pumps should be worked to their utmost capacity, and consequently the streams thrown into the reservoirs were so greatly augmented that the water in the latter rose constantly during the entire day, notwithstanding the draught upon it. The defect is in the mains that lead from the reservoirs through the city These are not sufficiently large to admit of the passage of an amount necessary to supply several cisterns at once when the engines are at work.

This fire certainly ought to satisfy our citizens of the folly of postponing from year to year the taking of such measures as would provide not only for the present wants of the city, but for those far greater wants which are in the not far distant future. Whether we buy and enlarge the works of the present company or construct others, or both, this fire admonishes the city that some definite action is imperatively demanded, and no factious opposition should be allowed to prevent or necessarily delay its being taken.

It was once considered that the entire strip of land between Front street and the river, where the greater part of the burnt district lies, belonged to the city to be used as a public levee and as such to be forever kept open It was so held by the Supreme Court of the Territory, and the people of the city were greatly chagrined at the unsettling of the question, and the reversal of that decision The first building that was erected by private individuals on the levee, and which was pulled down by the excited and indignant citizens, stood on almost the exact spot where the fire broke out last Sunday It has been suggested that steps should be taken on the part of the city to secure the two blocks from which the buildings have been swept, and throw them open as a public levee Many persons favor the proposition It is altogether probable that the land could be purchased as cheaply now as it ever can be hereafter No one can call to mind the handsome and convenient water front of Cincinnati and St Louis without appreciating its advantages, both on the score of convenience and on that of beauty. Whether the purchase could be effected upon terms that would be desirable, we have no information Of course it would be out of the question to think of purchasing the property except upon terms that would not require any material increase of the rate of taxation at present

One of the lessons of the fire is that the foot of the streets of this city should be kept open. From time to time efforts have been made to prevail upon the city authorities to cease to allow persons to build structures across the streets between Front street and the river But these efforts have failed and the streets have been used for warehouses and lumber yards and the like, from the time the adjacent blocks were built upon Had the foot of Alder street been clear of the lumber and wood that filled it up, the fire never could possibly have crossed that street, and the entire block between Alder and Washington streets would have been saved The immense piles of such material carried the fire across, defying every attempt to quell the flames, and driving the firemen away from the neighborhood by the intensity of the heat

The New York Herald seems to have lost its old pride in, being just to its opponents, and is now the most persistent and unjust of all the papers that oppose the administration Most of the opposition journals found matter for criticism in the President's message but the Herald is the only one we have seen that took up the document with a show of analytical carefulness, and pronounced an undiscriminating condemnation upon every suggestion and recommendation it contained That paper now comes to us with somewhat more than four columns devoted to a reckless attempt at justification of Governor Warmoth's usurpations and high handed defiance of the laws of the land The Herald did not get fairly into the campaign till some time after the election

A Havana letter says the slavery question is now the principal topic of conversation at that place Single handed and alone the Cronista some time since began the agitation in earnest, and has kept it up until the popular feeling against slavery and in favor of the enforcement of the anti slavery law is becoming very general and intense in spite of the sneers and ridicule of the slave-holders, who, though a small minority, control the politics of the Island The Abolitionists are growing strong and confident, believing that the overthrow of slavery is near

A Columbia, South Carolina, letter of December 11th, says the weather at that place was very cold, three inches of snow having fallen

Warmoth the Pure

The gallant struggle of Governor Warmoth of Louisiana against the oppressions of this despotic administration have excited the wonder, admiration and profound sympathy of the opposition press to an immense extent Even the Oregon Democratic journal blushes occasionally about its Governor Warmoth has not been regarded as a Democrat and therefore there is no natural sympathy between him and the Democrats But then, he is a hero who has shown himself willing to battle with Democrats and any and every body else who will stand up and fight the Republicans It is true Warmoth has been in the camp of the enemy of the party to which he owed his position for the past eight months It is true that he was openly identified with them in all their ruthless crusade of calumny against the President who had been the best friend Warmoth ever had It is true that he had a little ring of political filibusters with whom he had allied himself attempted to secure the Legislature of the State whose laws he had sworn to enforce as Governor, through means of fraud usurpation and revolution It is true he defied the laws of the land and the legally pronounced judgment of the court, until the government found it necessary to use force to vindicate its authority and secure the execution of the laws These facts do not look well, we confess They are painfully suggestive of the mobs and riots which never meet but for mischief, and of the consequences which are always the moving, planning power behind such assemblages But then Governor Warmoth is fighting the administration and that is evidence enough that he is in the right It is evidence also that he is a pure man, for do not all the opposition expressly declare that the chief ground of their opposition is a desire to cast impure and dishonest men from office and put men of purity and integrity into their places? that is, go in themselves? This fact alone establishes Warmoth a title to be considered a model politician, a true reformer and a self-sacrificing patriot

But we are not left to the necessity of relying on this class of evidence On the assembling of the State Senate on the 6th inst, Lieut. Gov Pinchback, President of the Senate, on taking the chair, said

SENATORS At the dead hour of midnight last night, Mr Weed and His Excellency Gov Warmoth came to my house and aroused me from my slumber, and made a proposition to me They offered me fifty thousand dollars, and said that I could name, and the appointment would be made, of any officers, and that they would pledge themselves that it would be carried out This would be done if I would enter into the conspiracy and I told them then and there I would consider the matter And I did consider it When I arose this morning I transmitted to His Excellency the following letter But first let me read a note which I received from Gov Warmoth early this morning by his messenger, so anxious was he to have me not with him in the manner proposed

MY DEAR GOVERNOR Come as soon as you can Before 9 if possible I must see you what ever may have been your determination

Yours WARMOTH

Lieut Gov PINCHBACK

NEW ORLEANS, Dec 9 1872

MY DEAR GOVERNOR I have slept on the proposition you made last night, and have resolved to do my duty to the State, party and race and I therefore respectfully decline to accept your proposition. I am sorry for you, but I cannot help you Yours, &c.,

P B S PINCHBECK

The promptness and alacrity with which the fire departments of all places within reach of Portland came forward to assist in saving the city from the terrible doom that seemed to be hanging over it during the first few hours of the fire, deserves to be, and will be, held in grateful remembrance by our citizens We sincerely hope there may never come an opportunity to repay this generosity in kind, but should such an event occur, our firemen will feel that they have more to inspire them than the promptings of a sense of the common obligation to assist any fellow man in the hour of his misfortune

The Herald was driven from its quarters at the corner of Front and Washington streets by approaching fire For some time all supposed that the office of the Herald could not escape but the flames were subdued before they crossed Washington street Yesterday the employees of that journal were engaged in getting the press and material back into the office We hope therefore to see the familiar face of our Democratic neighbor this morning, looking cheerful and lively as ever, and with as little of the visible effects of a general stampede as the unfortunate circumstances will justify

On December 11th a bill passed the Senate directing the Secretary of the Treasury to admit, free of duty, the monument designed by Admiral Porter and now being chiseled at Rome by Mr Simmons, to be erected to the memory of the officers, seamen and marines of the navy who fell in the late war in defense of the Union

General Hancock, who has been placed in command of the Military Division of the Atlantic as the successor of General Meade, has decided to make his headquarters at New York instead of Philadelphia

A New York dispatch of December 18th, says

In the Surrogate's Court of Westchester county to day, proceedings were resumed in proving Greeley's last will and testament

Reginald Hart testified that he went to Dr Choate's on the afternoon of November 20 h at the request of his (witness's) father to ascertain if the will had been executed accompanied by Mr Haines Reaching the house he saw Ida Greeley and Mr Stuart Witness and they went into Greeley's room Greeley recognized witness, and Stuart had in his hands the last will of Greeley, written November 9 h Showing it to Greeley he asked if it was his last will to which Greeley answered 'no' Hart spoke to Greeley, calling his close attention to the will and Greeley raised his head from the pillow, looked at the will and said 'yes' Greeley then requested that the witness and Aunty Lampson should be the subscribing witnesses

Counsel for the contestants asked for the modification of the deed which had been made by Ida Greeley in favor of her sister Gabrielle, and it was produced It deeds half the property to Gabrielle

W E Robinson was examined and produced a will written by Greeley in September 1857, but it was not read

The contestants of the will announce their determination to push the proceedings to the end

A letter from the seat of government of South Carolina, dated December 11th says

A disgraceful scene occurred between two colored members of the lower branch of the Legislature to day the result of an insinuation privately made that one of them had received a bribe to vote for Patterson for Senator yesterday The first intimation the members had of the affair was the noise of heavy blows falling on the head of Wm an L Thomas, from Colleton, and delivered by Hamilton, a member from the adjoining county at Beaufort The blood flowed from the wounds of the assaulted party freely As quickly as he could disengage himself from his seat he grappled with his assailant, and in a moment at least a dozen members were engaged in a rough and tumble squabble to keep them apart All debate on other subjects was stopped, and it was with the utmost difficulty a general row was prevented, as many outsiders rushed into the bar of the House The members on the minority side viewed the scene with the most evident disgust. At the close of the day s proceedings pistols and coffee were spoken of and there may be a duel very black in the annals of the history of the Palmetto State

Shall We Have the Levee!

PORTLAND, Dec 21 1872

THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Very many for which the entire city feels sincerely sorry, has consumed the buildings that occupied two blocks of what was once known the public levee Had this misfortune not fallen upon the owners of the fine houses of this fair city, their building would have continued and no opposed Certain I would probably have thought it useless to attempt to reclaim the levee But since they have been destroyed would it not be wise to do so and prevent a recurrence of the ground and prevent building, rebuild with permanent structures? To day I visited that part of the city and found very many prominent citizens busy at work from every quarter, inspecting the ruins and I was not a little surprised to find that the thoughts of quite a number of them as well as my own, had turned upon the project of purchasing this ground and making it into a public levee

I have made no inquiry as to what the land could be bought for but should judge the eight lots in the two blocks ought to be had at from $8,000 to $12,000 a lot This is a considerable sum of money but there certainly is a strong and a very general feeling in favor of some action being taken by the city to secure the land This feeling may not finally demand the purchase at these prices, or upon any other terms that could be had but until some action is taken to ascertain just what can be done, this popular impulse will not be satisfied

Yours truly, L.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A slight accident occurred yesterday afternoon to the car shop and Milwaukie, on the east side, in consequence of which the regular passenger train was delayed about three hours The delay was caused by two box cars getting off the track About 3 o'clock a gravel train was backing down the road towards the car-shops At the same time the train two box cars were attached to it, which was covered with sleet and snow, in consequence of the ties and rails being completely covered with sleet. A small tree, about one foot through, fallen directly across the track The train proceeding cautiously, but in consequence of the snow the trunk and branches escaped notice The two box cars struck the obstruction with such violently thrown from the track. Both cars were badly broken and left lying on each side of the track The locomotive drew the train a short distance up the track soon after the accident took place, and switched off to make way for the regular train. When the passenger train arrived down to where the collision occurred, it was found necessary to remove the two disabled cars out of the way The rails were also found to be displaced so that several hours elapsed before the track was clear The regular train did not reach the city until after 7 o'clock A Chinaman received a severe gash on one side of his head, which was the only accident to human life resulting the collision as far as heard from.

A DIFFICULTY.—As a specimen of the California treats Oregon productions, the following was related to us a few days ago by an employee of the best flouring mills in the State. The flour from the mill in question was ordered to be introduced into the New York market before the first lot arrived there, it was shipped from San Francisco that a thousand barrels of the same would arrive at New York in a few days. Some of the papers of the golden city expressed very deep regret at the fact that it would be necessary for papers pretended to fear, be palmed off upon the California flour, and tend to degrade [?] the same in the eastern markets. But when the flour arrived in New York sent back a telegram saying that every pound of the thousand barrels sold out at $11 50 per barrel " our California flour is very much surprised, as California's flour has always had a high name in the Eastern market, and the papers which expressed regret that it would be published as California's flour, have not expressed similar regret since it has been discovered to be new and of our own manufacture, as our flour is standing on its own merits, has unfortunately been the top of the market

Dr. Dickson lost furniture, books, etc., to the value of $750.

Mr. DeFrance, of the Commercial College, lost desks and tables to the amount of $800; no insurance.

The brick building occupied by S. J. McCorkle, on Front street, belonged to Mr. C. M. Waberg, 25x100 feet, was totally destroyed; loss $10,000; insured for $5,000 in the Phœnix.

The wooden building standing just south, 25x100 feet, owned by Capt. Holman, destroyed; loss $2,500; no insurance.

The next was a wooden building owned by Mr. Gray; not insured; loss, $2,000.

Occidental Hotel, by removal and water, loss about $4,000.

PLACES OF BUSINESS.—The following persons whose stores were burned out by the late fire, are now doing business as will appear by the subjoined:

Oliver Dennie, protographer, can be found on Market, between Third and Fourth.

The St. Helens Mill Company at the foot of Morrison street.

G. W. Traver at Gray's Music Store.

Dr. James Dickson can now be found at the Odd Fellows' Temple, room No. 10, second floor.

For the present the office of Thos. Frazer, U. S. Assessor, will be at the office of O. B. Gibson.

Geo. L. Hibbard at Parrish, Watkinds & Corbett's, corner of Front and Stark streets.

The Commercial College will open in a few days over the postoffice on First street.

Those whose places of business were destroyed by the fire, will inform us where they may be found hereafter, as we desire to furnish such information as accurately as possible.

C. H. Woodward & Co., Masonic Hall building.

W. B. Gilbert, room No. 24, Dekum's building.

Hall & Hanley, wood dealers, foot of Morrison street.

J. R. Cengle, in building formerly occupied by L. White & Co.

Swanson & Taylor, wood dealers, sustained little loss and remain at the foot of Washington street.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A slight railroad accident occurred yesterday afternoon between the car-shop and Milwaukie, on the east side road, in consequence of which the regular passenger train was delayed about three hours. The detention was caused by two box cars getting off the track. About 3 o'clock a gravel train was backing down the road towards the car-shops. At the end of the train two box cars were attached. The track was covered with sleet and snow, in many places ice two and rails being completely buried from sight. A small tree, about one foot thick, had fallen directly across the track. The train was proceeding cautiously, but in consequence of the snow the trunk and branches escaped attention. The two box cars struck the obstruction and were violently thrown from the track. Both were badly broken and left lying on each side of the track. The locomotive drew the gravel train a distance up the track soon after the accident took place, and switched off to make way for the passenger train. When the passenger train came down to where the collision occurred, it was found necessary to remove the two disabled cars out of the way. The rails were also found to be sprung so that several hours elapsed befor the train could proceed. The regular train did not reach the depot in Portland after 7 o'clock. A Chinaman received a scratch on one side of his head, which was the only accident to human life attending the collision, so far as heard from.

A DIFFICULTY.—As a specimen of the way California treats Oregon productions, the following was related to us a few days ago by an agent of one of the best flouring mills in the State: When the flour from the mill in question was first about to be introduced into the New York market, and before the first lot arrived there, it was known in San Francisco that a thousand barrels of the flour would arrive at New York in a few days, and some of the papers of the golden city, expressed a deep regret at the fact that it would, as such flour pretended to four, be palmed off as "California flour," and tend to degrade (?) that article in the Eastern markets. But when the consignee in New York sent back a telegram saying "Every one of the thousand barrels sold on the wharf at $9 50 per barrel," our California friend was very much surprised, as California's best brands of flour were then selling in the same market for $7 per barrel. From that day to the present the flour has always had flour in the Eastern market, and the papers which expressed the fear that it would be palmed off as California flour" have not expressed similar regret since the telegram stated it was received, as our Oregon flour, backing on its own merits, has uniformly been at the top of the market.

OCTAVE EVE AT THE UNITARIAN CHAPEL.—The children of the Sunday School with their parents and friends of the church, will celebrate Christmas Eve by appropriate exercises and a social gathering. The programme for the evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, is as follows:

Chorus—"In a manger laid so lowly."

Scripture reading and prayer, by the pastor.

Hymn—"Watchman tell us of the night."

Address by superintendent.

English—"Hush, what means those holy lays."

Solo—"Who is she in yonder stall."

At the close of these exercises the children will proceed to enjoy themselves with refreshments.

On account of their being no services or Sunday School in the church on last Sunday this will serve in place of the usual notice to those friends and friends who wish to contribute refreshments to the children's table to send in their contributions as soon after 12 M. as possible.

SWEDMAN IN TROUBLE.—We ascertain by a Colonia exchange that George Ryland, the well known circus man, and late proprietor of the Crystal Palace Circus, which went to pieces in Portland recently for want of funds necessary to liquidate certain expenses incurred, was recently arrested on a charge of perjury, by the sheriff of the former place. The charge was not sustained, and Mr. Ryland was discharged from custody. It is thought that malice on the part of the creditors of his circus prompted the charge. Mr. Ryland, it is said, will connect himself with Lowell's show now performing at Woodward's Garden, and take a trip to Mexico or Central America.

BUSINESS OUT.—Give Stone a lift at his new place 111 First street. He has some choice goods left which he is bound to sell.

NEVER SINGLY.—It is said that misfortunes never come singly. The fire, which swept away a portion of this city on last Sunday, was followed yesterday by a storm of snow, which promises to continue for some time to come. To those whom the fire has made a clean sweep, the prospect is anything but cheering at present. But we find there still exists in the minds of those who have been the most severe losers, a determination to rise, Phœnix like, from the ashes of adversity and take the fates by the horns. Those who managed to rescue a meager handful of their stock from the flames, will open at different places in a few days, and those who lost everything, propose to engage in business as soon as places can be procured and other preliminary arrangements effected. On every side we hear the busy notes of preparation, and read an unmistakable determination to rally from the recent paralyzing stroke of misfortune.

NEW STYLE OF CAR WINDOW.—Mr. J. S. Sammons who has been for a long time engaged in getting up a non dust conducting car window, completed his model a few days ago. Those who have traveled on railroads are fully aware that a great deal of dust accumulates about their persons. This, in a great measure is caused by the space between the window sash and the side of the car. How many persons have given up in despair the idea of raising the windows for ventilation, after having tugged away at the latches and other appliances adopted for adjusting the window at certain heights. There two great inconveniences are obviated in Mr. Sammons' model. Our space forbids further mention. The model is at Meussdorffer's hat store, where Mr. Sammons, the inventor will expatiate on its merits.

RENDEZVOUS.—Since the late disaster we hear of much complaint about the failure of parties to bring back, or report articles which were removed to places of security on Sunday, during the fire. Many articles in the excitement of the moment were handed by the owners to persons—strangers in some instances—who volunteered their services to assist in carrying them away. In a great many cases all traces of such articles have been lost, and the persons through ignorance of the whereabouts of those whose property they have been instrumental in saving, do not report in person or return the articles. This suggests the propriety of establishing a sort of general headquarters, in some place, where all missing articles can be returned and then distributed to the proper owners upon satisfactory identification.

SUITS PRESENTED.—The proprietors of the Cosmopolitan Saloon—Messrs. Green & Knott—yesterday presented each of the members of Columbian Hose Company, seven in number, with a handsome suit of clothes. The members of this company during the fire of Sunday had acquired for some time a position of peril in directing a constant and well applied stream of water against the approach of fire. By their efforts in a great measure the saloon at the corner of the street was saved from destruction. So intense was the heat, where the persons stood who held the hose that buckets of water were dashed over them every few minutes to render the position tenable at all.

HAND HURT.—A man who is employed at one of the tanneries adjacent to the city, had his right hand badly bruised yesterday morning. He was an engineer it seems, and in order to test the stage of the water in the boiler, turned on one of the steam cocks. The steam shot out and struck the back of his hand, burning it severely. This caused him to withdraw his hand suddenly, in the doing of which it was brought violently in contact with some of the machinery. The hand was badly bruised, but no bones were crushed. He was brought to the city and the limb dressed.

STATE DIRECTORY.—The valuable notes on Oregon compiled by Mr. J. M. Murphy for the State Directory were burned in the recent conflagration also the advertisements, business lists, etc., and such portions of the book as were printed. The work, however, will not be relinquished, and will make its appearance at the proper time. Gentlemen residing in the various parts of the State visited by Mr. Murphy, should furnish promptly all details that may be asked of them concerning their localities, and also send in their advertisements to S. J. McCormick.

BEAUTIFULLY LESS.—The Police Court calendar for the present month promises to be unusually small, in comparison with past months. December is fast ebbing his sands away, and will soon stand with the recorded Past. Up to date only 134 city and State cases appear on the arrest book. We predict, however, that the usual quota will be made up between Christmas and New Year's. One week, commencing from to-morrow, will be a season for Bachus to hold high carnival among his devotees.

CLEARING UP.—Yesterday the burnt district of the city presented a lively scene. Teams and men were employed in gathering up and removing to places of security different articles of merchandise, furniture, household effects, etc., which had been scattered about the streets and houses to avoid destruction. In some places workmen were engaged in clearing up the burnt and fallen debris, which lies scattered about the streets and sidewalk greatly to the obstruction of travel.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Not only was the entire edition of the Portland Directory destroyed in the fire of Sunday, but also the manuscripts from which the matter was printed shared a similar fate. But no good fortune so willed it, Mr. Bushnell, one of the compilers, happened to be carrying in his breast pocket one of the editions which had just been completed. This will obviate the necessity of collecting the names again, and recompilation throughout of the proposed work.

IN PRESS.—The "Quiddities of a Alaskan Trip" is in the title of a work now in press at Philadelphia, of which Major W. H. Bell of this city is the author. The forthcoming book claims to be a burlesque of a "voyage from New York City to Sitka, Alaska, via the Isthmus of Panama, San Francisco with its earthquakes, Victoria, B. C., and thence by canoe and snow shoes. The book contains sixty sketches with as many more pages of letter press."

TURNED BACK.—The steamer Oneonta, after attempting to reach the Cascades yesterday, abandoned the effort, and after reaching Cottonwood Point on the Columbia, returned to this city. Capt. Wolfe reported the river full of slush ice. A terrific gale was blowing down stream accompanied with a violent snow storm. It was deemed imprudent to attempt to proceed further. Another effort will be made to reach the Cascades to-day.

THANKS RETURNED.—The committee of Arrangements, under whose auspices the fair and festival for the benefit of the German Lutheran Society was held, desire to return their heart felt thanks to the ladies who kindly lent assistance. Also the Turn Verein, and others for their generous services tendered during the progress of the fair, and also to Mr. J. K. Gill, who furnished, free of charge, a piano for the several evenings.

DECORATED.—The Central Market will be decorated in grand style with the usual evergreen boughs this (Tuesday) evening in honor of Christmas Eve. Such a scene as the market will present to-night, has never before been witnessed in Portland by this public. It will be one of the great centers of attraction, and we doubt not but hundreds will pay it a visit in the course of the evening.

DIVINE SERVICE.—The congregation of the First German Lutheran Church of Portland will hold divine service to-morrow in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church, at 11 o'clock A. M. The discourse on the occasion will be delivered by the Rev. H. Gaus. The subject will be the "Nativity of Christ." Immediately following the discourse communion service will be held.

MASONIC ELECTION.—On Monday evening Harmony Lodge No. 12, A. F. & A. M., elected the following officers for the ensuing year: A. B. Richardson, W. M.; U. E. Hicks, S. W.; H. B. Oatman, J. W.; J. L. Atkinson, Treasurer; W. E. C. Moorum, Secretary; and A. J. Woodworth, Tyler. Appointed: N. B. Ingalls, S. D.; C. E. DuBois, J. D.; D. Rathborn, S. S. A. Taylor, I. S.

UP THE GRADE.—The iron rails along Fourth street are so shouted with ice that the locomotives encounter much difficulty in climbing the sharp grade. The John H. Couch was not able to draw up all the cars composing the dirt train. Several times she made the effort but failed. At length the train was divided and several trips were made, bringing up the entire train in detail.

METROPOLIS HOTEL.—This really first class hotel has been recently entirely refitted and newly furnished with the intention of making it the best family hotel in the State. Mr. Bunnell, the owner and proprietor, will spare no pains to make it, in every respect, the most desirable for transient and regular patrons of any hotel north of San Francisco.

ANOTHER ENCAMPMENT.—M. D. Merrick, D. G. C., instituted at Monticello, on the 21st inst., Excelsior Encampment No. 6. The following are the elected officers: S. J. Huntington, C; Vic. Huntington, J. C.; Chas. Huntington, R. S.; D. Lacy, F. S.; Alice Huntington, T.; John Reardon, C. of H.; P. Michels, I. G.; J. D. McGowen, O. G.

PAY UP.—All persons who are indebted in any way to those who were burned out, could do no better now than to pay the sufferers all they owe. This will be a great assistance to those thrown out of business by the late calamity. The new locations of the firms and different individuals burned out, as far as ascertained, are given elsewhere.

DELAYED.—As will be seen by referring to the advertising columns, there will be a few weeks unavoidable delay incurred in the issuance and delivery of the Portland Directory by McCormick & Bushwiler. The delay is caused by the destruction of the entire edition in the hands of the printers and binders at the time of the fire.

DISPOSED OF.—The array of motley countenances at the Police Court penitential bench, was astoundingly large yesterday morning. The following cases were disposed of: 20 drunks and disorderlies; 2 assault and battery; 3 larcenies; drowning a dungerous weapon 1; fighting 2.

RECEIPT ACKNOWLEDGED.—We acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary ticket to attend a grand ball to be given at the Dalles to-morrow evening. Also a ticket and invitation to be present at the grand Christmas ball to be given at Oregon City to-morrow evening.

NEW DRESS.—The Commercial Reporter of last week was somewhat delayed in consequence of a removal, but comes from its new quarters in a new dress and looking better than ever. It is now issued from the office of Messrs. Himes & Bachelder, No. 93 Front street.

Chinamen do not admire Malican boys for their combative nature, as expressed during the raging of the fire. Half a dozen lads not in their teens would surround a "queue" and march him to the brakes where he had to exercise his arms rather vigorously.

Chinese washermen have received more verbal blessings reversed, within the past two days, than they have since their advent in the State as they are the authors of the calamity which has made our holidays a veritable "black Christmas."

POSTPONED.—The discussion between Profs. Campbell and Chaney did not take place last evening, owing to the late arrival of Prof. Campbell. They will discuss the subjects heretofore announced this evening at the Philharmonic Hall.

A nice Christmas present for a gentleman, is the Moslem or Byron hat, for sale at Meussdorffer corner front and Morrison streets. He will keep his store open this evening until 10 o'clock, and on Christmas day until noon.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—The usual Christmas festivities will be held this evening by the Taylor Street Methodist Sunday School. The friends of the school are invited to hang presents upon the tree until 5 o'clock P. M.

The police force was out on duty in the burnt district yesterday to prevent persons becoming attached to property not their own, and to prevent their endangering their lives by any falling walls.

Twenty cents a pound for turkeys is all that will be charged at Quinn's. We will all take them at that price. He has ducks, chickens, game and fish, all selling at a trifle above cost.

A circumstance of the fire was the equality of all classes—bankers, merchants, literateurs, mechanics, Indians, Chinese and negroes, all working manfully together to arrest the flames.

CATTLE.—Eight head of beef cattle were conveyed last Saturday to Kalama on the steamer Oneonta. They were debarked at that point and shipped from there by rail to Olympia.

MOSLEM.—The Moslem hats are the most dressy and appropriate hats for this climate of any style that have ever been out; and can be found at Meussdorffer's.

SERVICES.—The services at Trinity church on Christmas day will be prayer, the children's service, at 9:30 A. M., and Litany and Communion service at 11 A. M.

TRAVER has saved a number of the favorite Home Shuttle Sewing Machines and will be happy to see his friends and the public at Gray's music store.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.—Those subscribers to the OREGONIAN who were burnt out will please leave their new address at our business office.

Until after Christmas, Messrs. W. Jackson & Co., will keep their saloroom open in the evening.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, J.

J. Harbaugh, juror, excused for the term.

State vs Isaac Borgman, et al; verdict on judgment.

City of Portland vs J. H. Read, et al; cause on trial.

PERSONAL.

Prof. T. F. Campbell, principal of Monmouth College, and publisher of the Christian Messenger called last evening. He will discuss this evening with Prof. Chaney as announced in yesterday's issue.

All who have travelled First street have certainly observed the attractive windows of Clarke, Henderson & Cook. The display is calculated to win the attention of the fair sex. All, however, is not to be seen in the windows. Well filled shelves and counters are encountered along the sides and center of the large store room. Distributed here, there and everywhere, the visitor finds the very latest fashions from the European marts. And this is the holiday season, the ladies will be particularly anxious to obtain the most elegant goods for presents, and at this establishment no trouble need be experienced in selecting from the largest stock ever placed before the public. More need not be said in reference to the attractions offered by Clarke, Henderson & Cook. A glance at their goods is all that is necessary to satisfy all who call on this firm that what has been said is strictly true.

DON'T READ THIS.—Be sure to get some of those fine Turkeys, Chickens or Geese now exhibited at W. Anchenheim's, Washington Market, and at his branch, No. 46 First street, one door below Taylor, where you will find the most complete assortment of Game, Poultry and Fish.

Major Robert assisted by Messrs. S. O. L. Potter and Benj. Shinkle, distributed to thirsty firemen and others on Sunday, one hundred and thirty-six gallons of coffee. And it took only four hours to do the work.

AMUSEMENTS.

The very inclement state of the weather last evening, and the public distraction produced by the calamity of Sunday, yet so fresh in the minds of all, conspired to render the attendance at the Theater quite sparse. The "Child Stealer" was offered for the second time in the city in the best possible manner, and its happy presentation not only gave entire satisfaction, but won frequent and merited applause. This evening will be offered, for the first time, the beautiful play of "Belle of the Faubourg." Miss Kate Denin will assume the character of Madelaine, and Mr. Waldron that of Bertrand. Evening's performance will conclude with the "Hibbe Family."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Attend the sale of toys, dry goods etc., on Washington street, two doors west of First.

THE INDIANS in the southern portion of the State have been kicking up a terrible ruppus, and shocks of an earthquake have been felt throughout the land of Webfoot. Shockingly low prices are made for fall and winter suits of clothing, made up in elegant style, of any quality desired—overcoats for all kinds of weather, and furnishing goods, at 93 First street, where J. O'Neil & Co. will be happy to wait upon you.

EPICUREANS should not overlook the fact that Christmas and New Year's are near at hand, and sumptuous repasts are in order. Aschenheim, at either of his stands—Washington street, between Second and Third, and First street, near Taylor—has fixed the prices of game, poultry and other delicacies himself low that even the poor printer, or any other man, can buy.

A Manual of Health.

An edition of between nine and ten millions of copies of a very useful work is now ready for gratuitous distribution, and can be had for the asking at any drug store in the United States, the British Colonies, Spanish America or Brazil. The work referred to is Hostetter's Almanac for 1873. The medical portion of it treats of the various ailments to which the human system is subject, and sets forth the peculiar properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—the purest and best tonic at present known—as a preservative of health and strength, and as a remedy for debility and disease. The Almanac is printed in all the principal languages of the civilized world, and reaches a larger number of families and individuals than any other medical treatise that ever issued from the press. No man or woman who has a due regard for that choicest of heaven's blessings, bodily vigor, should fail to read the plain, simple and convincing articles which this truly practical publication contains. The miscellaneous matter is varied, instructive and amusing, and the calendar department copious and comprehensive. Hostetter's Almanac is, in short, a household convenience, adapted to the use of all classes and callings. The farmer, the planter, the miner, the merchant, the mechanic, the laborer, the professional man, all need it; and to invalids of both sexes it is literally an article of prime necessity. The medical technicalities which render so many medical treatises intended for popular use unintelligible to the general reader, have been carefully avoided in this pamphlet. All is clear, explicit, forcible, and reconcilable with reason and common sense.

The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp, will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

For Preserving and Beautifying the Human Hair. To Prevent its Falling Out and Turning Grey.

A well-preserved Head of Hair, in a person of middle age, at once bespeaks refinement, elegance, health and beauty. It may truly be called Woman's Crowning Glory, while men are not insensible to its advantages and charms. Few things are more disgusting than thin, frizzly, harsh, untumed Hair, with head and coat covered with Dandruff. Visit a barber and you feel and look like a new man. This is what LYON'S KATHAIRON will do all the time. The charm which lies in well placed Hair, Ivory Curls, Luxuriant Tresses, and a Clean Head, is irresistible and irresistible.

"Good Morn ng"

BY MRS H A BINGHAM

"Good-morning, world" On the window seat
She balanced her two little timid feet,
She clung with her dimpled hands and shook
Framed in like a picture, finely hued
The sunshine-ring where hung low and green
Round the smallest curls that ever were seen
As she stood with beauty and light unparalled,
And bade good morning to all the world.

"Good morning, world" and the great world heard,
Each rustling tree and each singing bird
The dancing flowers and the dabbled grass
Nodded and swayed at the little lass,
And the far-off hills and the sky reached
Listened to hummed as the word was said,
And the old sun lifted its head and smiled,
"Good-morning, world" "Good morning child!"

Gumbs' Horse

"Gumbs," said the man, after examining the animal, "that horse has the gastronotyspelatons. You'd better paint his neck with turpentine and put a fly blister on his nose."

Gumbs followed these directions, and the next morning the horse's neck was raw from the jawbone to the shoulder, and he had on his nose a swelling as the horn of a rhinoceros.

Gumbs was scared, and sent for a livery stable man, who looked at the horse and said:

"Gumbs, there is nothing the matter with that horse but a little attack of hippozymosis. Just mix some molasses and rum, and give it to him in his feed, and he'll be all right to-morrow."

Gumbs gave him a gallon of rum and molasses, and that night his horse went snorting around the stable with the delirium tremens, kicked all the edifice into splinters, and nearly choked himself trying to eat the breeching-band. Gumbs found the horse in the morning in a more deplorable condition than ever. So he called a veterinary surgeon who cast his eye over the animal and observed to Gumbs

"Mr. Grumbs, this is a gennine case of hippotyphoid laryngitis! What your horse needs is cayenne pepper injected into the nostrils, and hourly doses of aconite and arsenicam, mixed, pint for pint, and fed with cut hay."

Gumbs immediately went around and bought a gallon of cayenne pepper and a cart load of drugs. The horse sneezed all that night with such sonority and energy that he kept everybody in the neighborhood awake; and, when Gumbs visited the stable next morning, he was alarmed to find his horse's eyes terribly inflamed with red pepper, and his nose worse than ever, while the body of the animal was swelled by the aconite until it was as large around as a sugar hogshead. Then Gumbs rushed around to another veterinary surgeon, and when he came, he viewed the horse for a few moments, and said:

"I tell yop, Mr. Gumbs, your horse has got hipperhinorrhea, and get it bad!"

"Then, of course, the horse will die."

"Not necessarily," remarked the doctor. "Just get a barrel of coal-tar and sulphur, and burn it under the horse's nose for a few hours to disinfect him, and let him rest."

And Gumbs did. He burned that stuff under the horse's nose, and the animal suffocated in a quarter of an hour; and, when Gumbs came in to see how the medicine was working, he found the stable in flames and an underdone bay horse lying in the hottest portion of the fire.

So Gumbs has lost his horse; and he feels encouraged, because, just after the fire was extinguished, another surgeon came in, and when he heard Gumbs' story, he comforted Gumbs by remarking that there was nothing the matter with the horse in the first place, and that he was a deluded ass for ever scrubbing the animal with turpentine and blistering him, and for listening to the tales of the other lunatics who came there to poison and suffocate the unhappy brute.—Max Adeler.

A Young Balloonist's Experience.

Russell Fuller, a young balloonist who made an ascent from Rome, New York, described the trip as follows:

I stepped into the car at 4 P. M.! The words "let go!" was given, and the beautiful little balloon Chenango mounted majestically into the upper regions. I looked around me; the scene had changed. Westward I could see Oneida Lake, looking like an irregular surface of silver. I looked below; the earth had become one vast plain, the predominant color of which was green, laid out in squares, interspersed with glittering, crooked streams, and the tints of forest, which at this season of the year are of a reddish-brown In a circle of a 100 miles I could see cities and villages—fairy places they seemed to me, however, some of them looking no larger than my hand. In a very few minutes no living object was distinguishable. I passed through a great white cloud. On emerging from it I saw earth again. It seemed perfectly level; every object had faded. I heard a faint whistle from a locomotive in the great gulf below. The balloon turned round. I had changed currents of air and was still rising. I looked at my watch (it was ten minutes past 4) and I noticed it was snowing. In five seconds I was above the snow again. The balloon turned, and I had mounted through another thick range of clouds. I had completely lost sight and hearing of the earth. All was silent. The sun was shining brightly above; below me, forming an irregular concave surface, were great pearl-colored clouds, having the appearance of mountains of rocks loosely laid together. The view was enchanting, but I could not long enjoy it. Soon I felt a ringing sensation in my head. I seemed to be suffocating. I attempted to open one valve. I noticed that the valve-cord was stiff with ice. The valve refused to work, and I thought it was frozen; but something must be done, and quickly. I wound both valve-cords around my arms and sat down, bringing my whole weight to bear upon them. I heard something snap. Little drops of ice came through the balloon, striking against my face, and I knew the valve was open. The gas escaped with whizzing sound and I knew that I was descending. I came down very rapidly, breaking off one side of a small apple tree (tearing the balloon badly) on the farm of Mr. Roose Jones, near New Hartford, landing at 5:25. Plenty of assistance was at hand. I could hardly walk for a moment, my feet were so badly chilled. I cut from the valve solid pieces of ice half an inch thick. I carried no ballast, anchor or rope on this trip.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

More than a thousand conversions were reported as resulting from the camp meetings held on the Atlantic seaboard during the past season.

No murder has been committed at Frankfort-on-the-Main for a hundred years, notwithstanding bankers there bleed people so severely.

A breach of promise suit, commenced in Maine fourteen years ago, was settled the other day by the death of both the plaintiff and defendant.

A secret organization is operating in Ireland, France, and Italy, to aid the Pope in securing possession of the Papal States and regaining his temporal power.

At the late meeting of the Western District Baptist Association of Maryland, held at Rockville, it was shown that there were fewer Baptists in Maryland than in any State or Territory in the Union.

A cruel fellow at New Haven, Conn., who amused himself by showering an entrapped rat with turpentine, and firing it, paid for his fun with five bales of oakum behind which the animal took refuge.

At an English funeral the other day, one of the six pall bearers slipped and fell; the others dropped the coffin and fell upon the prostrate man in such a manner as to inflict injuries of which he died in a week.

During the month of November, Philadelphia sent merchandise to the value of $2,177,000 to foreign countries. The foreign export trade of San Francisco for the same month was $2 200,000, or in excess of the Quaker City. The principal staples of export in the two cities were petroleum and wheat.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, Dec. 23, 1872.

Gold in New York to-day, 111⅞.

Portland Legal Tender Rates, 90c buying, 91c selling.

The great calamity, which has befallen Portland by the fire of Sunday, appears to have put a complete check on business and legality itself was without enquiry ordinarily on Sunday, except that more business houses were open and there was much loafing on the streets in the direction made by those who were burned out to bring order out of the confusion that ensued to their concerns by reason of the disaster. In the general market, business has been exceedingly dull all day, owing to the losses above stated and the extremely bad weather which has prevailed. Even large exchanges are waiting from the best information we can obtain, the general tone of the money market is a little better than it has been, while some of our financial men report the stringency as not little if any abated. One of our leading capitalists and wholesale merchants informs us that judging from the indications which now present themselves, there will be no very great case in the finance of the country yet for some six months, as it will be almost that time before the bulk of the returns for our surplus grain will be fairly into circulation in our midst, or before the spring trade, generally active, fairly opens, so as to favorably affect the home money market

The English money market appears to be working into an easier condition During a part of November the rate of discount at the Bank of England was 7 per cent, the highest in a long time. On the 5th instant the rate was marked down to 6 per cent, and on the 12th instant it was again reduced to 5 per cent. This action is rather in anticipation of the operations expected by the German Government upon the turn of the year, when new fiscal measures are to be introduced, which can scarcely fail to produce a new condition of the money market throughout Europe (it is gratifying to observe these changes for the better in the Old World

The Wool Trade.

The Eastern markets continue quiet. At Boston, on the 4th instant, the receipts from the interior were reported to be on the increase, and manufacturers expressed a willingness to purchase desirable lots on reasonable terms. Good Ohio Wools were quoted at 60@72c. New York dates of the 7th report a quiet demand. The Wool trade has been very remunerative during the past year, and the prospects for the future are good It is noteworthy that while there is a steady increase in the consumption of Wool, the facilities for producing it are gradually being curtailed in the more settled States. In 1871, there were about 22,000,000 sheep in the United States, yielding an aggregate of 128,000,000 lbs. We annually import 70,000,000 lbs of Wool, valued at $10,000,000, and about $44,000,000 in Woolen goods. To supplant these demands on foreign sources, we ought to have an increase of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 sheep. The Pacific States and Territories furnish a sufficient area for this purpose, and are looked to as the section whence must come the most material increase in the Wool product of the country. In this connection, a reference to the British Wool trade will be of interest. According to the returns of the London Board of Trade, the imports of Wool into the United Kingdom for the ten months ending November 1st, 1870, were 253,216 lbs, and the exports were 77,388,000 lbs, making the net imports 175,828,000 lbs. During the same period in 1871, the gross imports were 310,630,000 lbs to which 18,000,000 lbs must be added for stock carried over, while the exports were 121,400,000 lbs, leaving 197,140,000 lbs for net imports. In the first ten months this year, the gross imports were 277,635,000 lbs; exports 127,460,000 lbs, making the net imports only 147,629,000 lbs. As the imports there from November 1st to April 1st are generally light, high prices must continue to rule during the interval.

San Francisco Exports.

Merchandise and produce to the value of over $4,000,000 were shipped from San Francisco by water during the first half of the current month, to the following destinations:

New York	$201,192	Australia	$ 4,650
New Bedford	53,409	New Zealand	3,885
Great Britain	767,763	Peru	11,484
British Columbia	21,401	Panama	1,851
Hawaiian Islands	22,031	Cent. America	15,704
Total			$1,124,911

Against $530,509 for the same time in the corresponding month last year and $1,000,000 in 1870.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Nebraska will sail from San Francisco for New Zealand about the first of January. The China mail steamer will sail from the same port about the same time.

The British bark Severn arrived in 147 days from England, having been detained several weeks at Valparaiso.

The marine arrivals at San Francisco for the first half of the current month compare as follows:

	Vessels.	Tons.	Freight.
Dec. 1 to 15, 1870	32	10,388	$103,089
Dec. 1 to 15, 1871	42	8,076	102,547
Dec. 1 to 15, 1872	31	27,474	224,657

Embraced in the arrivals this month were eight vessels from China, two from Japan, one from Java, three from Australia, four from England, two from France and Scotland, three from Peru, two from New York, two from Philadelphia, and four from other foreign ports. Of the thirty-one vessels that arrived ten were in ballast, nine brought cargoes of Coal, including some Iron, six had miscellaneous cargoes, two Rice, two Sugar, one Tea and one Cedar.

Tonnage advices from Hongkong to October 30th report the following vessels as bound to San Francisco to load grain for Europe: British ships Carrick, 916 tons; Glance, 867 tons; Patrician, 1,157 tons; British barks Caribou, 697 tons, and Kelso, 556 tons. The British bark Adriana, 730 tons, had been laid on for San Francisco. There was 14,000 tons of disengaged tonnage at Hongkong on the 30th October. Later dates report the sailing of the Irwell, Kelso, Carlisle, Carl vale and Patrician for San Francisco, and Penang and Felix Mendelssohn for Portland. Most of the vessels coming over from Hongkong are in ballast At other Chinese ports there were no fresh engagements of tonnage for San Francisco account, so far as we can learn from the advices at hand.

In the matter of freight transportation by sail between San Francisco and Hongkong, the tables have been completely turned About a year ago, we had more tonnage than was wanted, and several vessels were sent to the China Seas in ballast, others were loaded for Hongkong as low as 25@4 per ton. Last mail dates from that port mention considerable tonnage listed for San Francisco, most of it in ballast, and some loading at $2 50@3 per ton.

Rio dates of November 8th report the charter of the ship Rosada Morris to take the cargo of the condemned ship Eugene & Adele, bound from Marseilles for San Francisco.

Last mail dates from China and Japan report freights as generally easy. Two vessels had been taken at Hongkong to load at Whampoa for the British Channel or the Continent at £3 per 50 cubic feet and 25 lay days. The London rate at Shanghai was £2 15s per 50 cubic feet by sail and £3 per 50 cubic feet by steamer. The Walton was loading at Yokohama for London at £3. The Lothair was taking at Yokohama for New York at 53 c.

The ship City of Amoy discharged 1,420 tons of merchandise and took on board 1,103 tons of wheat at San Francisco in seven days, finishing on the 13th inst.

The following is from Hongkong

Sailed October 20th—British bark Carsbon, for Portland, Oregon. Put back November 5th in distress] British ship Irwell, McIntosh, San Francisco. October 31st—British bark Kelso, Yowell, San Francisco. November 5th—Bark Penang, Patton, Portland, Oregon; British ship Carrick, Glover, San Francisco, British ship Carlvale, Saylor, San Francisco. November 11th—German bark Fitz Mendelssohn, Barber, Portland.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Dullness in wheat still prevails, with no indications at present of a further advance. Our quotations to day are not changed from our last report, being about $1 45@1 60. with but few transactions. The receipts continue to be fair, mostly or entirely of lots held to agents of exporters last week and week before. The San Francisco Bulletin of the 18th says the market there is not so quick at $2 as it was last week, though holders of prime lots still maintain that figure. The continued absence of rain and the favorable condition of the tonnage market add firmness to the views of dealers

OATS—There is on average quantity in the market, and prices are firm at our quotations, which are averaging from 38@42½ ₱ bushel. A fair local demand is ruling, and trade is tolerably good. The supply is well kept up.

FLOUR—The advance of 50 cents ₱ bbl. on extra quality, and in proportion on inferior grades, is well maintained, and holders are firm at the figures last noted given. As something in this line is occasionally expected from the Hongkong market we note the fact that our latest mail advices from that port report a stock of 65,000 qr sks, and the market dull and nominal at $1 05@1 15 ₱ bbl in sack. At the highest figure this is only $1 60 ₱ bbl in bulk, a difficult to get superfine in the San Francisco market under $1 75 as long as rates $1 freight to get it to Hongkong there remains but little margin for shippers. The California market was unchanged at latest advices

HAY—Bad weather keeps back the usual supplies which have heretofore reached us regularly by water and wagons, and the quotations to-day for good timothy, delivered, is nominally at $20 ₱ ton

FEED—The quantity in market is not large and with a good local trade and a fair demand for shipment north-ward, quotations are firm at $18@20 ₱ ton for bran, and $30 for chops and middlings

BUTTER—With small receipts to-day the price of choice dairy for family use is firm, while common country store butter and ordinary cooking is in abundant supply. The best is quotable at at 40@42 cents ₱ lb, other quotations range from 25@35.

EGGS—With but few on hand our quotations are given as firm at 40 cents ₱ dozen
